Tekspan Automotive, through its TSS, Tekspol and Tekspan de Mexico production sites, supplies products obtained through the transformation of expanded materials and destined to mass production for the automotive sector.

The organization of the Quality System is centralized (corporate) and is aimed at guaranteeing:

- '- the quality of the product, in full compliance with the technical specifications provided by the customer;
- '- the quality of the service, in terms of punctual delivery;
- '- the continuous reduction of costs and the elimination of waste;
- '- technical advice to the Customer from the initial definition and specification phase of the product;
- the development of production activities in full compliance with work safety and environmental protection

For this purpose Tekspan Automotive S.p.A. decide to:

- basing its development on the continuous improvement of all company processes, making use of the consultancy and support activities of central entities in favor of related production plants;
- guarantee full compliance with the CSR of the standards and technical requisites required for products in the various sectors of employment through the standardization of the Quality System and the coordination of the connected production sites
- guarantee compliance with IATF 16949 requirements through the coordination of Quality Assurance of related production sites;
- promote the involvement and training of personnel at all levels through the coordination of central bodies;
- use certified raw material suppliers and promote the continuous development of certified suppliers through the coordination activities of the central bodies

According to this Policy, the Management establishes the objectives to be achieved and ensures the availability of human, technological and IT resources necessary for their achievement. Objectives are set centrally; the individual targets are defined at the peripheral level to adapt them to the local production realities.

All staff must commit to achieving these goals.

The Management also undertakes to disseminate this policy and its objectives, as well as a systematic verification of their achievement.
